

2022 Animal and Food Sciences Hall of Fame Award Nomination Form

The University of Kentucky Department of Animal and Food Sciences is seeking nominations for the 2022 Animal and Food Sciences Hall of Fame Award. Nominees must have made outstanding contributions to the Department and/or animal agriculture in Kentucky. We invite you to nominate someone deserving of this award.

Induction into the Hall of Fame is intended to be a special honor to living persons rather than a memorial to those who have passed away. It represents the highest honor that the Department of Animal and Food Sciences can bestow. Nominees need not be alumni of the Department or University, nor reside within the Commonwealth of Kentucky, but they must be strong supporters of the animal industry. The award will be presented at the Animal and Food Sciences Reunion on October 7, 2022.

Selection will be based upon significant contributions to animal agriculture in Kentucky, including, but not limited, to:

1. Monetary or in-kind support of student activities and/or teaching, research, or extension programs.
2. Promoting improved public relations for animal agriculture through writing or speaking.
3. Participating in significant state, national and/or international activities to present or reflect the positive attributes of the University of Kentucky's animal sciences programs or Kentucky's animal industry.
